VOLUME TWENTY-ONE, NO. 29

UPLAND, SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1915.

PLAN RE-ARRANGEMENT OF COUNTY SUPERVISORIAL ROAD DISTRICTS

TO DECIDE MONDAY. LITTLE OBJECTION HEARD IN WEST END

CHINO IN UPLAND DISTRICT

Chino to be Included in Supervisor Kincaid's District. Etiwanda, Fontana, North Rialto Go to Supervisor Riley.

Plans for the re-districting of the county by which marked changes would be made in the supervisorial alignment are before the board of supervisors, and probably on Monday of next week the vote will be taken.

The new arrangement, as it was suggested Monday, would split the city of San Bernardino in almost equal parts into three different districts.

San Bernardino south of Third street would belong to the Fourth district of which R. L. Riley is supervisor. San Bernardino north of Third street and west of E or F streets, would belong to the First district of which George E. Butler of Needles is supervisor. The remaining portion, north of Third and east of F or E streets, would belong to the Fifth district of which S. V. Horton is supervisor.

Although these are the lines on which there was discussion Monday, San Bernardino city's ambition to have a member on the board of supervisors may force a change that will continue to leave the bulk of this city in one district, where its vote would figure prominently in the nomination.

There are two other drastic features. The west end of the county will be placed in one district, that of which W. J. Kincaid is supervisor. Another change would be the withdrawal of the mountains from Supervisor George E. Butler's district, so that the districts, in which would be San Bernardino and Redlands, would have mountain sections, and roads.

The re-districting will be in connection with the biennial change in precincts.

San Bernardino city will have 38 precincts as against 23 as at present, an increase of 15. Redlands will be increased from 20 to 26. The total number of precincts in the county will be 176 as against 146 at present.

Details of Plan

Here are the details of the re-districting, which with the exception of the outline concerning changes in San Bernardino city, seem to meet with favor at the discussion.

First district: Supervisor Butler, to include all the desert, the Cajon and Lytle creek regions and that portion of San Bernardino city west of I street, now in Supervisor Kincaid's district, and in addition about three more precincts, which would bring the line to F or E streets.

Second district: Supervisor Kincaid, to include all the west end, Chino, Ontario, Upland, Cucamonga, Alta Loma, Guasti.

Third district: Supervisor Glover, Redlands, Highland, Crafton, Montone, Yucaipa, and that portion of the mountains and mountain roads including Mill creek, Santa Ana as far as Clerk's, and City Creek.

Fourth district: Supervisor Riley, Colton, Etiwanda, Fontana, Rialto, North Rialto, Bloomington, Urbana, American, and that portion of San Bernardino south of Third street.

Fifth district: Supervisor Horton, Mission and Loma Linda districts, Central, Del Rosa, Arrowhead, Mill, the mountains including the Waterman road and Crest road to Fredalba, and that portion of San Bernardino north of Third street and east of F or E streets.

The Changes

That arrangement would mean that the First district, Supervisor Butler, would give up Crafton, Montone and Yucaipa to the Third district and Del Rosa and Arrowhead to the Fifth district, together with the mountain roads that go with them. The first district, now has practically all of the mountain roads of the county. The new territory would be a portion of the city of San Bernardino.

The second district, Supervisor Kincaid, would give up Etiwanda,

D. R. KILBOURNE HURT IN COLLISION

TRUCK STRIKES AUTO OF CUCAMONGA MAN

Driver Endeavored to Avoid a Collision and Runs Into Curb, but Truck Tips Lighter Car and Kilbourne is Trown Out.

Hurled from an automobile in a collision with a motor truck in Los Angeles, Tuesday, on Los Angeles street between Eighth and Ninth, Daniel R. Kilbourne, seventy-eight years old millionaire orange grower of Cucamonga, was probably fatally injured. He sustained a fractured skull, crushed chest, scalp wounds, and an injury to the left hip.

Mr. Kilbourne was motoring with his nephew, F. M. Cole, of the Angel city, whom he was visiting. A motor truck driven by F. Kahler, of 1220 East Twenty-third street, came from a vacant lot as Mr. Cole and his uncle were driving north on Los Angeles street. Mr. Cole drove to the left curb in an effort to prevent the collision, but the momentum of the truck thwarted his attempt to escape. Mr. Cole's machine was tipped to a dangerous angle in the crash.

Mr. Kilbourne was thrown to the sidewalk and was taken to the receiving hospital where Police Surgeon Johnson reduced his fractures and treated him. F. M. Seely and a companion took Mr. Kilbourne to the hospital in a touring car.

Mr. Kilbourne, one of the best known citrus growers in California, came to this State from Burlingame, Kansas, eighteen years ago. He lives in Cucamonga with two sons. He owns many groves throughout the citrus belt and in the south.

Because of his advanced age and the seriousness of his injuries, his recovery is improbable, according to physicians attending him.

FRIE BOYS ENTER-TAIN CITY COUNCIL

Upland's Volunteer Fire Department was host the night before Thanksgiving when they entertained the city council and a half dozen friends of the department. The turkey dinner as prepared by Chad, Francisco, Harry Plum and Howard Hobaugh was a revelation to the banqueters, for they didn't realize the ability of the firemen along culinary lines. H. C. Moore acted as toastmaster during the oratorical program, speeches being made by Mayor Woodbridge, Councilman Lambirger, President E. C. Mehl of the fire department, Chief Manker and L. N. Kirk. Following the dinner the banqueters adjourned to the social hall of the department in a very pleasant evening with cards and pool. The guests of the fire company other than City Councilmen Woodbridge, Grier, Johnson and Anderson, were Homer Glidden and father-in-law, John Baird, Harry Lucas, City Clerk Fuller, J. E. Sawyer and W. E. Westland.

NEW PASTOR AT NAZARENE

Our new pastor, Rev. Will H. Nerby, and wife, of Louisville, Ky., will be with us for the first time on Sunday, December 5. These good people have been in evangelistic work, and with their preaching and singing they have met with marked success in the eastern states. We consider ourselves fortunate in securing them as leaders in our church, and we are looking forward to their coming and expecting a fruitful year. Aside from our regular services, we are to have with us in the morning our outgoing missionaries, Brother Eckel and wife. We expect a great day and cordially invite those who are able to come and worship with us.

DIRECTORS ELECTED

At the annual meeting of the Orchard Protection Company, Monday, November 29th last, Messrs. F. C. Crowell, C. H. Post, W. B. Cavers, W. W. Phipps and Geo. E. Bender were elected directors to serve the ensuing year. Mr. F. C. Crowell was re-elected president of the company at a meeting of the new board of November 30th, while the appointment of a secretary and manager was deferred until December 3rd, at which time the board will meet for this purpose and for discussion of the policy of the company with reference to orchard protection.

RED CROSS CHAPTER ORGANIZED

LOCAL MEN AND WOMEN IN IMPORTANT WORK

Red Cross Chapter Essential to Every City Both in Time of War and in Time of Peace. Much Good to Result Here.

The organizers and charter members of the Upland Chapter of the American National Red Cross met at the residence of Rev. George E. Swan last Tuesday evening and effected the organization of the chapter. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Woodbridge and Miss Woodbridge, Mrs. Francis M. Paul, Mr. Earl W. Paul, Mr. John B. Morrow and Mr. and Mrs. Swan.

This organization is the outcome of a petition circulated some weeks ago and forwarded to the Red Cross headquarters at Washington, D. C. The petition is as follows:

To the Central Committee, American National Red Cross, Washington, D. C.

The undersigned, residents of Upland, California, being members of the American National Red Cross, or applicants for membership in the same, respectfully request authority to form a chapter of the American National Red Cross to be known as the Upland Chapter, and to have for its jurisdiction the city of Upland and vicinity.

MRS. FRANCIS M. PAUL, R. F. LEMON, JOHN B. MORROW, T. R. WOODBRIDGE, MRS. JOHN RARICK, E. C. HARWOOD, A. H. JOHNSON, GEORGE E. SWAN, O. W. KANKLE.

At the meeting on Tuesday night Mr. E. C. Harwood was elected chairman of the chapter, Mrs. John Rarick, vice-chairman, John B. Morrow, secretary, and R. F. Lemon, treasurer, while an executive committee will be appointed at a full meeting of the members to be held at an early date. At the meeting on Tuesday the object and the need for such an organization was discussed. It was decided that the chapter could hardly accomplish much in a definite way without a greater member list, and each of the organizers was urged to advertise the fact of the formation of the chapter as widely as possible and to do all possible to increase the membership list. It is believed that when the Upland people realize just what the Red Cross represents, not only in time of war, but in quiet work among people suffering from incurable diseases, in connection with disasters such as the Dayton floods, and under similar circumstances, there will be no lack of applicants for membership. The dues for an "annual member" are but one dollar a year, one-half of which goes to the central organization, while the other half will be devoted to local work. It is intended to make the Tuberculosis hospital at Alta Loma a special recipient of the benefits of the local chapter.

Both of the local banks have been supplied with membership blanks and have been instructed to receive money from those desiring to make application for membership. The secretary will be glad to supply those seeking information with literature on the work of the society. A supply of Red Cross stickers has been ordered and will be placed on sale, and everyone is urged to affix them to their packages and letters.

RESIDENTS SAN ANTONIO PLAN CHURCH BUILDING

A religious awakening of San Antonio Heights on Tuesday evening, November 30th; over forty residents met at the residence of Mrs. Tays to enjoy a social evening and talk over a project that has been proposed for the erection of a building to be used for the purpose of a general religious, educational and social institution.

During the evening an interesting program was rendered, consisting of instrumental music by Prof. Bryan, vocal solos by Miss Weichmann, two special selections by a quartet from the Upland M. E. church, and readings by Mr. Bryan, Sr., Mr. B. Pogue and Miss Henry. Light refreshments were served and added much to the success of the evening.

Mr. Stump, in a few well chosen words, presented the purpose of the meeting, calling attention to the generous gift of Mrs. Knight of a lot for the erection of a church. Following this the constitution for the

AWARDS COMMITTEE SIXTH NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW HOLD MEETING

FIFTY MEN AT BANQUET PREPARATORY TO THE BIG EVENT

BY-PRODUCTS MEN SPEAK

Elks' Club at San Bernardino Scene of Preparation for the Coming Annual Orange Show. All Southern Cal. Represented

The development of the manufacture and marketing of by-products from California citrus fruits, so as to utilize the enormous amount of cull fruit, now going to waste formed the basis of the discussion Wednesday night at the meeting of the awards committee of the Sixth National Orange Show, which followed the "duck dinner" held at the Elks' club house at San Bernardino. Members of the committee from the various sections of Southern California were in attendance. There were fifty-one present.

The by-products feature was brought out as one of the most valuable of the Orange Show, and following the discussion, upon motion of W. L. Frost of Redlands a sub-committee composed of S. L. Ames, general manager of the Exchange by-products factory at Corona; H. P. D. Kingsbury, by-products manufacturer of Redlands, and C. M. Grow, chairman of the awards committee, was named.

This committee will arrange an entry list for the by-products displays, set a standard for the various by-products exhibited and determine upon suitable premiums and awards. The rules and premium list under which the Orange Show operated last year were adopted with only slight modifications in the methods of judging the feature exhibits.

Joining the members of the awards committee at the banquet and subsequent meeting were the members of the executive committee and a number of invited guests. A massive table, 28 feet in diameter, in the center of which was a bower of chrysanthemums, begonias and potted ferns, was set in the spacious banquet room of the Elks' club for the occasion.

The principal speakers of the evening were A. D. Shamel of the United States department of agriculture, who is engaged in citrus investigation and experimentation, located at Riverside, and S. L. Ames, and H. P. D. Kingsbury, the latter two of whom spoke on the bi-products situation in the citrus industry. Talks were also given by representatives from the various citrus growing districts, mostly all of whom told of plans under way in their respective localities to make feature displays at the Sixth National Orange Show in February.

The value of the artistic feature to the show was strongly emphasized by the speakers from all sections as being the principal attraction to induce people to attend the show.

The following resolution was adopted by the assembled guests at the banquet of the awards committee of the Sixth National Orange Show:

WHEREAS, The success of the National Orange Show is an eloquent testimonial to the energy and devotion of the men of San Bernardino who have borne the weight of labor attendant upon the preparations for and management of the yearly expositions, therefore be it

Resolved, That we here assembled who are not of the active workers, do pledge to those whose arduous efforts have insured the successes of the past, our support to the limit of our capacity, toward the creation and carrying through of wider and broader and grander Orange Shows in the future.

A new religious organization was presented for approval. It was unanimously accepted, and the new religious body under the name of the Bethany Union Congregation at once began to take form, twenty-eight names being appended to the constitution as the membership basis.

Arrangements were made for a meeting next Tuesday evening at the same residence, December 8th, for the purpose of electing the officers and taking definite steps towards securing the necessary funds for bringing the project to a successful culmination.

STORE LOOTED AT CUCAMONGA

WILLIAMS-LUCAS CO. AGAIN VICTIMS OF THIEVES

Small Amount of Merchandise and a Few Pennies Sum Total of the Night Raid on Branch Grocery. Mexicans Suspected.

Burglars, thought to have been Mexicans, entered the Williams-Lucas store at North Cucamonga early Sunday morning and carried away several hundred dollars' worth of merchandise, including shirts, overalls, underwear, and the like.

The burglars gained entrance by breaking the glass in a rear door. They are thought to have carried away their loot in sacks.

The Cucamonga officers were able to follow the thieves' footprints for some distance, because of a hole in the sole of one of the men's shoes, but they lost the trail finally.

A reward of $25 is offered for the arrest and conviction of the burglars. The Williams-Lucas store has been looted on numerous previous occasions.

FOOTBALL SQUAD HONORED

The Chaffey Tigers were entertained at dinner, Tuesday evening of this week, the men of the faculty being hosts for the evening. Besides the first team and substitutes, the members of the school board were guests of the evening.

The banquet was served under the direction of Miss Harriet Robinson, head of the domestic science department of the school. The tables were arranged in the form of a block "C", and orange trumpet flowers and autumn leaves were used in decoration. Little pictures of Coach Fred H. Clapp served as favors.

Principal M. E. Hill presided as toastmaster, and clever speeches were made by several, according to the printed programs that lay at each place. Informally, however, the fellows responded to calls for remarks until every fellow, and the members of the school board and faculty had responded.

The banquet marks the close of a very successful year in football, at Chaffey. Under the leadership of Harleigh Brown, captain-elect, 1916 should see a good team representing the Orange and Black.

CLIMBS DAWSON ON HIGH

B. J. Caldwell has accepted the agency of the Apperson motor cars, and there is a reason for his accepting the agency.

A demonstrator from Los Angeles came to the city yesterday to see Mr. Caldwell, but B. J. was not enthusiastic. The demonstrator noted this and suggested a ride for seven people—and judging from those in the party it might be called "some" ride.

It was not speed that was demonstrated, but rather power and perfect pulling ability.

Seven people, averaging about 170 pounds, climbed into the new Apperson eight, and started north on Euclid. Mr. Caldwell had one stunt he wanted demonstrated, and if the car took it, he would accept the agency.

This new Apperson, with its load, approached Twenty-fourth street without hesitancy and not only that, went over Dawson's hill on the high. There were seven people to prove this, and if you don't believe it ask Jess Monroe, Will Waterman, F. M. Caldwell, who were in the party. Mr. Caldwell will have a demonstrator here the forepart of the week.

MANOEUVRES OF JANE' AT CHAFFEY UNION HIGH

The announcement of the Senior play, "The Manoeuvres of Jane," to be given at Chaffey Union High next week, Friday, December 10, brings to mind the many delightful plays that have been given at Chaffey during the last few years.

Mrs. L. M. C. Conger, who has been responsible for the success of past plays, is coaching the cast for this performance, and promises that it will not disappoint.

A special orchestra is working up the music for the evening under the direction of Mrs. Chapin.

The fine stage equipment and scenery at our high school auditorium make it possible to reproduce with splendid effect plays such as the one which is to be presented next week.

The proceeds from the play go to the fund for publishing "Fasti," the high school year book, which appears each June, with a record of the doings of the year.

The cast of characters for "Manoeuvres of Jane" includes many Up-

DOIN'S AT UPLAND GRAMMAR SCHOOL

BASKET BALL SEASON TO CLOSE ON FRIDAY

Board Arranges with Manager Whitmoyer of Colonial Theatre to Give Educational Matinees. New Flag Pole Soon.

The Basketball season for the Upland Grammar School boys will end Friday of this week. The last game is to be played with Central, Ontario, on Central grounds. Our boys have played splendid basketball and have been victorious over all the other teams so far. They also expect to win the game with Central next Friday. This will give Upland the championship in basketball for this season. We hope to have just as good a baseball team. The boys will start practicing next week and the Grammar School league games will begin January 7th.

The program last week was given by the boys of Miss Grigg's class. The boys who took part did splendidly. The glee club, the orchestra, and the drill were especially good. Next Friday morning will be chorus singing.

The Board of School Trustees has arranged with the management of the Colonial to give a series of school matinees for the benefit of the school children. They will be given every two weeks, and will be interesting to adults as well as children. An admission of 5 cents will be charged for children and 10 cents for adults. The proceeds over the cost of putting the pictures on the screen will be used for the benefit of the school.

The new flagpole has been ordered and is expected to arrive about the first of January. The pole will be sixty feet above the ground. At present, the school flag is displayed above the door, as the rope to the old staff has broken.

GLASS FACTORY POSSIBILITY HERE

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce on Monday night met Messrs. Blakeslee, Brannigan and Sheriff to consider the glass manufacturing proposition which those gentlemen wanted to present to the city of Upland. Mr. Brannigan is a glass manufacturer of many years' experience in Pittsburgh and in Europe, and says that the finest quality of all kinds of glass can be manufactured more cheaply in California than in the east. He states that he was first attracted to Upland through his acquaintance with a number of our residents who are old glass makers, and that within fifty miles of Upland is a practically unlimited supply of the finest silica sand in the world, especially adapted to glass manufacture, while the supply of quartz, from which the best lens glass is made, is inexhaustible. Mr. Sheriff is a manufacturer of automobile lamps, and on Monday night demonstrated the practicability of a new automobile lamp lens that deflects the rays of the lights with no diminution of their illuminating power. He stated that he had large orders for these lenses but could find no manufacturer on the coast prepared to make them, and for that reason was hoping that Mr. Brannigan could make some arrangement with the people of Upland whereby his factory could be located here.

No definite action was taken by the directors on Mr. Brannigan's proposition, but a committee was appointed by President Morrow to cooperate with Mr. Blakeslee in investigating ways and means and see if there is not some way in which we can secure this enterprise. Mr. Brannigan says that if the factory does not have a monthly payroll of at least $3,000 he does not want to waste his time on it.

The Woman's Missionary Society meets in the Presbyterian church on Friday afternoon of this week, tomorrow, at 2:30. Mrs. E. B. Geer of Taladega, Alabama, is to speak. Her subject is "Freedom in the South." This insures a good program. All the friends are invited.

Land young people: Donovan Palmer, Dewey Harnish, Alex. Ware, Elmer Krebbel, Morris Reynolds, Herbert Goerlitz, Leo Sharps, Marjorie Reynolds, Rosalie Thielcke, Zeola Arnett, Lois Craig, Lillian Schneider, Julia Neales, Faye Armstrong, Ellen Willmott, Janet Anderson, Mabel Speck.

ORCHARD PROTECTION CO. ASSET TO CITRUS GROWERS OF UPLAND

TANKS OF HEATING OIL INSURE GROWERS AGAINST INJURY BY J. FROST

$25,000 INVESTED IN PLANT

President F. C. Crowell States Stock Subscriptions Coming in at a Very Satisfactory Rate, Thus Guaranteeing Success.

It is probable that comparatively few of our local people, especially those who are not affected directly by the dire results of freezing weather, realize how well this part of the Ontario Colony is protected from possible frost damage to citrus crops, though they may have heard, in a general way, that something has been done. It should be a matter of pride to every loyal Uplander to contemplate the fact that the community contains men who are far-sighted enough and big enough in a co-operative sense to organize a concern such as the Orchard Protection Company and to carry the burden of a $25,000 plant on their own shoulders that may at any time be utilized to save the crops of ranchers who can not see any immediate need of lending their own support to the company.

The facilities of the Orchard Protection Company consist of two steel tanks with a total capacity of more than half a million gallons. The tanks are kept always full of the kind of oil best adapted to smudging purposes. As oil is issued to ranchers more oil is ordered, so that there may be always on hand sufficient oil to meet the utmost requirements of the severest weather. This policy, it can be easily seen, makes it necessary that a capital of some $15,000 should be continually tied up; and this, in turn, means that the company should be out of debt and in a position to have its orders receive prompt and favorable attention whenever they are transmitted to the oil companies.

The oil tanks and oil belonging now to the Orchard Protection Company were formerly the property of the Upland Citrus Association, which decided to go into the oil business for the protection of its members for the season following the big freeze. For various reasons it developed that it was not practicable for the Upland Citrus Association to continue in this business, and in order to relieve the association of what might become a considerable burden, and at the same time to continue an adequate system of protection, a number of citrus growers organized the Orchard Protection Co. and purchased the tanks, real estate and oil from the Citrus Association.

The Orchard Protection Company is capitalized at $25,000, with 1000 shares of the par value of $25 each. These shares are being sold at par value to those who desire to receive the protection afforded by the company at the rate of one share of stock to each acre of orchard protected. The purchase of stock gives the stockholder the right to purchase oil as he may need it at practically cost price, the company making no profit beyond the amount necessary to cover the cost of operation, depreciation, etc.

President F. C. Crowell, of the Orchard Protection Company, states that stock subscriptions are coming in at a very satisfactory rate and that it may be necessary to discontinue the offer of shares in order to reserve a small amount for possible contingencies. He says that many ranchers have been quick to realize the advantages of being stockholders in such a corporation, and in addition many growers in localities where there is little reason to fear frequent recurrence of killing frost have contributed their financial support from a purely co-operative standpoint. Mr. Crowell says that, in his opinion, the plant of the Orchard Protection Company is second to none of its kind in Southern California, and is fully adequate, if properly supported, to care for the requirements of its stockholders in the coldest weather we are likely to have.

Some girls are disappointed in love and some in matrimony.

A pessimist is a man who remembers that yesterday was the best day in the year.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1915

I AM more powerful than the combined armies of the world. I have destroyed more men than all the wars of the nations. I am more deadly than bullets, and I have wrecked more homes than the mightiest siege guns. I steal, in the United States alone, over $300,000,000 each year.

I spare no one, and I find my victims among the rich and poor alike, the young and old, the strong and weak. Widows and orphans know me.

I loom up to such proportions that I cast my shadow over every field of labor, from the turning of the grindstone to the moving of every railroad train.

I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage-earners in a year.

I lurk in unseen places, and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not.

I am relentless.

I am everywhere—in the home, on the streets, in the factory, at railroad crossings, and on the sea.

I bring sickness, degradation and death, and yet few seek to avoid me.

I destroy, crush or maim; I give nothing, but take all.

I am your worst enemy.

I am CARELESSNESS!

THE members of the Upland Fire Department were hosts the other night, the members of the City Council being the honored guests. Following the dinner, Chief Manker was called upon by the toastmaster to give a little history of the department. Mr. Manker told of Upland's first fire, when the drug store, which stood where Kirk's Bootery now stands, was burned, and of the helpless condition of the city at that time because of a lack of fire-fighting apparatus. He traced the history of the department from that day to this—from the hand power hose reel to the present-day American La France fire truck which can reach the uttermost part of the city in ten minutes' time. And a history to be proud of, it is. The success and growth of the fire department rests largely with the people, yet had the city a volunteer fire department in which the voters had little confidence, the result would have been far different than it is today. The council has carried out the desire of the people, the fire department members desire to reach the highest efficiency possible and gaining this efficiency, while it depends on each and every member of the company, also depends on the machine which carries the boys to the scene of the fire. Or, as we read the other day, the automobile is here because some genius, forty years ago, harnessed the kick in the explosion of a drop of gasoline. And thus has the fire department developed.

IT IS CONSIDERED a waste of energy to offer to the youth of this day and age, intent on marriage—or even to those older, intent on the same thing—advice regarding such an event. But here is something that although it may not be read by the marriageable, those who have experienced married life will appreciate the facts contained therein. The extract is taken from the American Magazine in which it was published under the caption, "Sid Says."

To get thoroughly married takes time and trouble. Some people don't understand marriage. They think—before tackling it anyway—that it is a "natural" institution. Their idea is that man by nature first loves and then marries.

Now the love part is natural, but the marriage part is an artificial scheme worked out by Society to prevent too frequent changes in the organization. Society finds a couple of youngsters who have a natural attraction for each other and it says to them: "Now, isn't this nice! You two think a lot of each other, don't you? And you don't want to lose each other, of course! Isn't it a shame you can't see each other except when Ma or Aunt Henrietta is home? I wonder if there isn't something we can do about it. Say, how would this little plan of mine do—marriage? All you have to do is to agree to it and sign a little document. Then you can live together. Yes? You like it? All right—just put your names down here. There now. That's fine! Just the thing!"

Then the young folks learn for themselves the difference between love and marriage. They learn that while love may turn out to be the short haul, marriage is the long haul. Love may get tired and want to quit before the piano needs tuning, but marriage runs right on through the World's Fair, Roosevelt's administration and the opening of the Panama Canal. It becomes the one permanent job of life—a job hard to resign from and difficult to get fired from. Some people get so disgusted they can't stand it any longer and give up in a huff. But there stands Society, pointing the finger of shame at them and calling them welters and quitters. Others work at the job indifferently, never win success, never quite fail, and go on from year to year afraid to give up, but dazed and mystified until the end of their days. Some glare at each other like meat axes. Others hate each other in their hearts, but for the sake of children or for other reasons live in a state of armed peace under a flag of truce. In cases of this kind both usually derive enormous self-satisfaction out of the fortitude and self-control which they display. Many work capably, unselfishly and energetically at the job and make a great success of it. To such as do the job well the rewards are greater than any to be obtained elsewhere in the world.

In business, if you make a great success, there may come a time when people begin to suggest that you ought to get out and give others a chance. Not so with marriage. If you win out in matrimony nobody wants you to quit. You are never superannuated or put out on a pension. If you make a success everybody wants you to keep right on, stay in the neighborhood, and come around for the evening.

Marriage furnishes every man a chance to be a great man. In the married relation a young man can be as wise as Washington, as entertaining as Lincoln and as diplomatic as Bismarck. No married man ever has the right to stand up before the world and claim that he hasn't had opportunities.

THE SERMON of Bishop Lawrence of Boston on the late Booker T. Washington makes a good editorial on the kind of man whom The News editorials like to speak in notes of praise. Bishop Lawrence said:

"Having known him well for years, I can say from personal knowledge that he was a great, charitable, strong, healthy and open-minded man, and was always first in things that had to do with the uplifting of his race. In all the stress of life and the harsh things that were said of him and to him, no word of complaint or bitterness ever passed his lips. When he came to Boston he walked with his carpet bag, not to one of the great hotels, which, although they might have received him, would not have welcomed other colored men, but among his people, where he was always welcome. He would not go where his race could not go.

"Some of you know what it is to stand for an hour at the end of a dinner car, waiting for your breakfast. For the thirty years that Booker T. Washington traveled over this country, week after week, he has waited until every white person had been served before he entered. He then went in alone and took his meals with the waiters.

"I believe that history will make record that this boy, born in slavery, nameless and homeless in his youth, will rank as one of the great characters of the country.

HARRIMAN died twenty years before his time. He was a tremendous worker, but work did not kill him. What killed Harriman was thinking in bed. Thinking in business hours is a constructive process. Thinking in bed is usually worry. One reason why every man should read history is in order that he may know the folly of worry.

Read the History of Rome by Ferrero, especially those chapters following the assassination of Caesar. See the pitiful worry of poor Cicero.

Should he follow the dictates of his conscience and throw in his lot with the friends of Caesar, who had shown him so much kindness?

Or should he take what seemed to be the safer course, and join with Caesar's assassins?

Day after day he tortured his soul with worry.

How pitifully unimportant all that worry seems to us, two thousand years afterward. How clearly we can see that if Cicero had simply followed his conscience he could have spared himself all that worry and saved his life and his honor.

A greater man than Cicero lived through a far greater period of trial. And he did not worry.

That man was Abraham Lincoln.

He was depressed, yes; heartsick, yes. But worried? No!

When he was tempted to worry by some trial that seemed overwhelming, he would say to himself, "This, too, will pass."

By which he meant that a thousand such trials had visited men in centuries gone by, and had passed away. His trial was important enough to make him think. But no trial could be important enough to make him worry.

A certain business man faced his board of directors recently. He had done his best—but he had lost them a large sum of money.

One of the directors said to him:

"You don't seem to be much worried."

He replied:

"You gentlemen don't pay men any money to worry about your business. You pay me to do my best according to my judgment and conscience. I have done that. To worry would not add one penny to your balance sheet."

Learn this lesson from history: In all the six thousand years of history, worry has accomplished nothing. Your worry will accomplish no more.

ABSURD QUESTIONS

What stupendous stupidities are perpetrated in the name of efficiency! New York city has a Public Improvement Bureau which, with efficiency in view, propounds a list of eighty-six questions to candidates under twenty-one years of age. Here are some of the questions:

Of what particular benefit has your schooling been to you?

Has anyone ever suggested or advised you what your future course should be? If so, who gave such advice, and what was the nature of it?

Sight, hearing, smell—good, fair, or poor?

Who has shown the greatest interest in your welfare?

What kind of reading have you done?

What is your hobby?

What is your ambition?

Does your mind concentrate or skip around?

Do you consider yourself absolutely honest?

Are you conscientious?

Are you inclined to be lazy?

Are you willing to pay the price in hard work to obtain success?

It is easy to guess that any candidate for an appointment would strain a point to invite favorable answers to all such questions—especially if he believed that making a good showing would get him a job.

It is also easy to believe that the personal equation in many candidates would make them incapable of sufficient "detachment" to insure the reliability of their answers to questions such as these, even if they meant to restrict themselves to the truth.—Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin.

STATE COMMISSION MARKET OF CALIFORNIA

TO THE PEACH GROWERS PROMOTION COMMITTEE:

Gentlemen:

From all the information I have been able to gather on the commendable work of your committee, in endeavoring to organize a Peach Growers Association with a view to overcoming the existing evils which have led to the market prices for dried peaches being less than the cost of production, and which in the end must lead to the ruin of the California peach grower; I have found that perhaps the prime reason for a great majority of the peach growers hesitating to subscribe for membership in your proposed association, is due to a feeling of fear on their part to obligate themselves for a period of seven years, to entrust their crops for marketing into the hands of a board of seven directors, whose character and abilities at this time are unavoidably unknown quantities. In other words, what is lacking on the part of prospective subscribers is a feeling of confidence in future possibilities. If this fear can be removed, I am satisfied you will have little or no difficulty in bringing practically every peach grower into your organization, since it must be evident that unless you follow the lines so successfully demonstrated by the raisin growers, there can be little or no hope for the future of the California dried peach industry.

In discussing this serious situation with Governor Hiram W. Johnson only yesterday, the thought suggested itself that perhaps the most effective way to silence such fears, and to inspire the necessary confidence on the part of prospective subscribers, would be to have a State representative on the board of directors of your proposed association, whose duty it would be to attend all the meetings of the board, to have a copy of the minutes of board meetings filed with the State commission market director, and to report to such market director any weakness which might develop in the conduct of, or management of, the association on the part of its board of directors. To have it then become the duty of the market director to investigate the affairs of the association; if need be to hold a hearing; and to give the widest publicity to his findings, in this wise affording the fullest protection to the absent stockholder or subscriber, and thus tending to insure wise, honest and economic management.

The suggestion appealed very strongly to Governor Johnson, who expressed himself as being in perfect readiness, if so requested by the subscribers to your proposed association, to advise the election by your board of trustees of any one that I, as market director, might nominate for such directorship.

I am therefore presenting this matter for your consideration. I believe that the adoption of this suggestion should insure the success of your undertaking, and I would therefore ask that you give it your most serious consideration, and advise me at your early convenience as to whether or not you can see your way clear to adopt it.

It must, of course, be plain that this State representative on the board of directors would be occupying substantially the same position as does the State bank examiner in the supervision of State banks; and the statement has been made by authorities that the depositors, for example in our California State banks, under the State bank examiner system, regard these institutions as models of security. Yours truly,
HARRIS WEINSTOCK,
Market Director.

A GUILTY CONSCIENCE

A Story of Parisian Politics

By F. A. MITCHEL

Politics was running high in Paris. A candidate was speaking to an audience, inveighing against the demagogues who, he asserted, were corrupting the masses. "Money," he said, "is flowing like water. There is a man in this audience who I know has received 100 francs for his vote. Just think of it—100 francs for the surrender of the invaluable privilege he enjoys under the republic of expressing his wish in national affairs!"

After the meeting the speaker, Victor Daroux, was sitting in a restaurant on the Boulevard des Italiens with a couple of friends, partaking of a supper. He was just raising a glass of wine to his lips when a man stepped up to him and said:

"M. Daroux, I am the bearer of a message to you from my friend M. Charlier. He demands a retraction from you in tomorrow morning's journals of your accusation in your speech this evening that he has sold his vote in case you refuse."

Daroux, who was staring in wonder at the speaker, broke in—
"Why does M. Charlier assume that I referred to him in my remarks?"
"Because you looked directly at him when you made the accusation!"

Daroux was deliberating what to do in the matter when a waiter approached and informed him that a gentleman in another part of the room desired to speak to him privately. Excusing himself, Daroux went to this newcomer.

"M. Daroux," said the man, "I represent M. Arnoux. He demands an immediate retraction of your accusation made this evening that he has sold his vote for 100 francs."

Daroux was tempted to laugh, but the speaker was so serious that he refrained.

"Why does M. Arnoux assume that I referred to him in my remarks?" he asked.
"Because you were looking directly at him."

Daroux was silent a few moments, then said:

"And if I refuse to retract?"
"In that case M. Arnoux expects that you will give him the satisfaction due from one gentleman who has wrongfully accused another."

"Let me have your address," said Daroux. "I will send an early reply." Returning to his table, Daroux received the same announcement from M. Charlier's friend of what was expected in case of a refusal to retract and called also for his address. The man had scarcely gone when a third came and demanded a retraction for M. Blanc for the same offense and received the same answer as the others.

"It seems," said Daroux to his friends, "that if a guilty conscience counts for anything there has been a good deal of vote selling."

During the next half hour three more men demanded a retraction of M. Daroux for accusing them of selling their votes, and the accuser, after being informed that a refusal would be followed by a challenge, called for the party's address and promised to send an early reply.

"It does not seem so remarkable," said Daroux after the last man had been disposed of, "that so many men have sold their votes, but that the price in each case should have been a hundred francs. I had heard before rising to speak that 10,000 francs had been distributed among certain influential voters, but I did not know that a hundred francs was the current price paid. I fancied that some one of the persons bribed might be in the meeting, and it occurred to me to fire an effective shot by making a pointed accusation. It seems that I have killed half a dozen birds with a single stone."

These words were spoken to friends who were with Daroux when the avalanche of demands for retraction fell upon him. One of the party suggested that if the matter were properly handled sufficient capital might be made out of it to win the election. Daroux was running for the corps legislatif, but his opponent was so lavish with money that he had no hope of being elected. However, those gentlemen now gathered about him at the restaurant were shrewd politicians, and they set themselves to find a method of procedure by which the incident at home might be used to turn the scale in his favor.

It was decided to stave off the matter till the day before the election, which was to take place in four days. The day after the demands for satisfaction were made no reply was sent. The second day each one of the conscience stricken men received word that M. Daroux refused to retract. A reply to his refusal was returned by each one of the six men accused in the shape of a challenge to mortal combat.

Daroux chose six seconds to represent him, and since, being the challenged party, he was entitled to choice of weapons, time and place of meeting he instructed each second in accepting the challenge to choose fells, to appoint the time at 10 o'clock on the morning before the election and the place the Place de la Concorde.

Every challenger was struck with amazement that so public a place should have been chosen for the meeting. "I cannot see," said M. Charlier, "how he expects to make capital out of so great publicity. He has made an accusation which is thrown back in his teeth, and he must answer for it under the code. Surely there is no advantage in this." M. Arnoux was much puzzled at the choice of place of meeting, and M. Blanc—who, by the bye, had distributed the money used to buy votes—began to fear that some game was to be played. Nevertheless he did not see how he could do anything to prevent it.

At a quarter to 10 on the morning appointed for the fight M. Daroux, surrounded by his six seconds and a surgeon, appeared in the Place de la Concorde, near the base of the obelisk. Paris was quite alive at that hour, and many persons were passing and repassing. Seeing the party at the foot of the obelisk, the seconds with fells under their arms, the surgeons with their boxes of instruments, persons stopped to learn what it all meant. Gradually a crowd collected, and the word was passed from one to another that there was to be a duel.

"Can you tell me," asked one of another, "who that distinguished looking man is, with his arms folded, waiting?"

"That, monsieur, is M. Victor Daroux, candidate for election tomorrow for the corps legislatif."

"And why so many attendants?"
"That I do not know; I am waiting to find out."

At the moment a carriage drove up, and M. Arnoux, attended by his seconds and a surgeon, alighted. He seemed quite chagrined at seeing the crowd, but it had been entirely unexpected. He supposed that Daroux was intending to make a display of his skill and bravery on the eve of the election. Arnoux, seeing that no one of the other party made any advance to begin the fight, said:

"Pardon me, gentlemen. If we are to fight so publicly it may be well to begin at once and have it over with."

"There is another ahead of you, monsieur," replied one of Daroux's seconds.

"Another? What other?"

"One who took M. Daroux's accusations to himself."

Arnoux winced.

Another carriage rolled up, and another challenger alighted. He, too, was delayed, and before the cause of his delay could be explained to him four other defenders of their honor arrived in quick succession. The crowd by this time had swelled and was in a fever heat of expectation. No one understood why so many men, each attended by a second bearing fells, should continue to pour in. It happened that M. Charlier, who was the first challenger, arrived last. As soon as he came M. Daroux's second begged the crowd to make room, since the duel was about to begin. The other five challengers protested, and the crowd time pressing the duelists so closely that there was no room for the fray. Finally some one of the crowd yelled:

"What's it all about?"

"It's a put up job!" cried one of the bystanders.

"There's half a dozen of 'em picking on one!" shouted another.

"There's an advertising dodge in it somewhere. Wait and see!" was a third person's explanation.

"Here comes a gendarme!"

Meanwhile Daroux stood silent with folded arms, the only person whose dignified appearance commanded respect.

When the gendarme arrived Daroux said something to him in a low tone, to which the officer assented.

Then M. Daroux, raising his hand to impose silence, made an explanation. He began by telling of hearing on good authority that a large sum was being used to land his political opponent in office and of his having made a blind charge. Then he told how each of six different men in the audience had taken the accusation to himself and demanded a retraction or satisfaction.

"And now, my friends," continued the speaker, "I am here to back my words. I have accused none of these gentlemen. They have accused themselves. For we all know that a guilty conscience needs no accuser."

The men who had come to fight Daroux got away as fast as they could, amid the jeers of the crowd. Daroux entered his carriage with his attendants and drove across the Seine to the legislative building on the other bank, attended by an enormous crowd. There he alighted and made a political speech, in which he told the story to a multitude of voters.

Every evening paper in Paris had an account of the affair, and the cafes were filled with persons laughing at the way Daroux had exposed the corruption of his opponents. That night he spoke to an immense concourse, who demanded again and again to hear the story from his own lips.

The journals the next morning all published editorials upon the low grade to which Paris politics had sunk and the iniquity of using money at elections. During the day Daroux drove from one polling place to another and wherever he appeared was greeted with shouts of applause mixed with laughter at the way he had turned the tables on his opponents.

Before 9 o'clock at night it was known all over Paris that Daroux had been elected, and when the papers came out the next morning they announced a landslide in his favor.

What became of the six self accusers was never known. They got away from under the limelight as quickly as possible, and on the day after the election not one of them was to be found in Paris. Daroux was urged to proceed against them for bribery, but, since the only evidence against them was what they had themselves furnished, no action was ever taken in the matter.

YOUR CHILDREN

Let them do all they can for themselves—carry their own water, fill their own jugs, wash up, arrange their own rooms, clean their boots and clothes, lay the table. Believe me, that unimportant as these things may seem, they are a hundred times more important for your children's happiness than knowledge of French or of history.

These things train the children to simplicity, to work and to self-dependence.

Believe me, that without that condition there is no possibility of a moral education, a Christian education or a consciousness of the fact that men are not naturally divided into the classes of masters and slaves, but that they are all brothers and equals.—Leo Tolstai.

After a woman makes up her mind to have her own way she isn't satisfied unless some man tries his best to restrain her.

LINES TO REMEMBER

Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do that day which must be done whether you like it or not. Being forced to work and forced to do your best, will breed in you a hundred virtues which the idle never know.—Charles Kingsley.

"Bill, old boy, you're agwine ter send me ter jail, air you?"

"That's what," replied the judge.

"Have you got anything to say agin it?"

"Only this here, Bill: It will be bad for you when I git out!"

County Federation Meeting—

The first executive board meeting of San Bernardino County C.F.W.C. was called by the president, Mrs. D. W. Willets of Colton, on Tuesday of this week. Mrs. Willets entertained the members and guests with a luncheon at her home, and a most delightful time was spent not only at the luncheon table but afterward, in discussing the work of the county. It was decided to concentrate on forestry; not to have all twenty-two departments of State Federation work; to work more for San Bernardino county; not to imitate the district and state meetings, but to make the county meetings more "homey," and to cheer the inmates of the County Hospital at Christmas time. The old ladies who are in the County Hospital were assigned to the Redlands Contemporary club, the Upland Woman's club and the Cucamonga Woman's club, to send boxes of good things to eat and warm clothing if necessary. Mrs. J. W. Barton, chairman of philanthropy, and who is on the board of a number of charitable associations in San Bernardino, will communicate with the clubs later in regard to the needed things. Mrs. Bausch, district chairman of press, asked the presidents to send reports of all meetings held, to her, so she might get them in form for the papers of the southern district, which includes the five southern counties. Besides the president and chairman mentioned, others present at this meeting were Mrs. Homer Lash, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Reid, president Cucamonga Woman's club; Miss Gertrude V. Reid, state chairman of forestry; Mrs. Crookshank; Mrs. Sues, president Contemporary club of Redlands; Mrs. Schoeneman state chairman emblem; Mrs. Ella L. Westland, parliamentarian; Mrs. F. H. Manker, county chairman education; Mrs. Butterfield, president Colton Woman's club.

D. A. R. in Business Session—

A business session of San Antonio Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held last Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. E. Hart, No. 608 East D street. Among matters of business considered were the contributions to be made by the chapter for philanthropic purposes. An industrial school in Georgia for mountain boys and girls, in which the Daughters of the American Revolution have been interested for years, will receive a substantial check as a Christmas gift from the chapter, while personal contributions will be made to the George Junior Republic.

A favorite member of the chapter, Mrs. William H. Thomas, of Long Beach, having driven to Ontario to attend the meeting, presented a report of a reciprocity luncheon at Hotel Alexandria, at which a guest of honor was Mrs. George Guernsey of Kansas, candidate for president general. If Mrs. Guernsey is successful in her candidacy, she will be the first to hold the office from west of the Mississippi river.

San Antonio Chapter has Historic Localities for its winter course of study. The regent, Miss Aurelia Harwood, emphasized the importance of personal study if each member is to receive benefit from the course. An excellent paper on Historic Boston was presented by Mrs. O. Granger of San Antonio Heights. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Scout, of Long Beach and Mrs. Bartholomew of Illinois.

While the meeting was enjoyable and interesting, there was a deep undercurrent of sadness due to the passing, last month, of two beloved members, Mrs. Ellen E. Jackson and Mrs. A. P. Harwood of Upland, whose long and useful lives had exhibited the patriotic spirit of their Revolutionary ancestors and whose memory will ever be dear to members of San Antonio Chapter.

Shamrock Club—

The Shamrock Club enjoyed a delightful afternoon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John Cunningham on San Antonio avenue. The home was made the more beautiful through the use of large red and yellow roses in the decorations, and the afternoon was spent with needlework. Two delightfully rendered piano solos were played by Mrs. Dinger, which added greatly to the pleasure of Mrs. Cunningham's guests. An elaborate two-course luncheon was served by the hostess. The members of the club present were Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Hartley, Mrs. Wieland, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Erickson, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Billington and Mrs. Eckerman. The guests of the club for the afternoon were Mrs. Dinger of Upland and Mrs. Wheeler of Ontario.

Birthday Dinner—

A delightful birthday dinner was given by Mrs. W. L. Waterman in honor of her husband's birthday on Friday at 6 o'clock. Among those who helped consume the good things provided besides the hostess and host were Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Waterman, Miss Nellie Anderson and Eldon Atwood.

Merry Wives—

The "Merry Wives" Embroidery Club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. W. L. Cline, on Friday afternoon of this week, on the boulevard.

San Antonio Teachers' Guild—

The regular meeting of the San Antonio Teachers' Guild will be held in the Chaffey library, Friday, December 3d, at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be called to order by the president, W. A. Fiske. The social hour is in charge of Miss Clara Bissell, chairman. The program to be presented will be as follows:

Music—Miss Edith Hitchcock
I Hear a Thrush at Eve Cadman
L'Ete (Summer) Chaminade
Addresses—
The Teacher and the Community
Mrs. Carrie May

Art and Living
Miss Charlotte Reed
Things Worth While in the Life of a Teacher Mrs. Maude Walton

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Entertain—

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Foster of Cucamonga entertained most delightfully on Thanksgiving day. Mrs. F. L. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. McClelland and daughter Miss Lela, and Mr. Fred Stevens of Upland.

Mrs. Van Ness Hostess—

Mrs. Robert Van Ness of San Antonio Heights entertains the G. T. Club today, the Van Ness home being decorated in red geraniums and ferns. A three-course luncheon was served to the following guests: Mrs. C. E. Allen, Mrs. H. O. Blohm, Mrs. N. I. Hamer, Mrs. Charles Roberts, Mrs. Earl Maurer, Mrs. B. H. Spicer, Mrs. R. R. Wisely, Mrs. J. L. Short, Mrs. Wm. Tuttle, Miss Mabel Myers.

Annual Family Gathering—

Mr. and Mrs. August Dinger entertained on Thanksgiving the following children and relatives in their annual get-together: Mr. and Mrs. Ira Dinger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dinger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dinger and family, Miss Anna Dinger of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. James Dinger, Miss Myrtle Greenfield and Miss Blanche Walters.

Excellent Program—

The Upland Woman's Club presented an excellent program last Friday afternoon, the best talent in Upland taking part. Miss Maude Gerry gave two vocal solos. The club is always fond of hearing Miss Gerry and as usual she sang with charm and expression.

Prof. Mather discussed "Peace" most intelligently and his audience was deeply interested throughout. He traced the development of law, gave the history of peace, and the cost of armament. Prof. Mather thought that the close of the war would bring about a limitation of armament and that eventually armament would be done away with altogether. Plans for military drill and discipline in the High Schools were outlined. Prof. Mather thought that the attitude of people toward war—that of horror—showed great advancement. Formerly nations gloried in war.

Miss Haury gave a short sketch of the life and music of each of the composers before playing her numbers. The club was delighted with her brilliant rendition of Chopin's Impromptu in A flat. She responded to an encore with "Clair de Lune" from Debussy. Miss Haury is thoroughly musical and played with great skill and talent.

Mrs. Londis and Mrs. Rosenberger served tea and cakes. The next program will be in charge of Mrs. Manker, and will be on "Christmas Giving" and "Christmas in Foreign Lands."

Ladies' Aid to Entertain—

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will entertain the Missionary Society at its meeting held next Tuesday. Miss Gerry and Miss Hitchcock will entertain the guests with musical selections. The committee in charge of the afternoon is composed of Mrs. T. K. Vernon, Mrs. Robert Van Ness, Mrs. Vedder, and assisted by the committee in charge at the last meeting.

On Saturday, December 4th, the Boston Bakery is going to sell its famous home-made cookies at three dozen for 20c.—Adv. 29t1

Dollar for Dollar, What car gives as much?

It is the ONLY 7-passenger, 4-cylinder car with a 3¾-inch bore x 5-inch stroke, FORTY horse power motor that has ever been offered in America or Europe for less than $1000. And it is the ONLY car of the season that has accompanied a $100 reduction in price with such a SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE in quality.

But all that we ask is for you to see the car. And it won't take but a few minutes for the car to convince you that dollar for dollar, it gives MORE than any other FOUR on the market.

Petitioners from Twelfth street were before the city council last night desiring that Fifth avenue, from Tenth street to Twelfth, and Second avenue, from Eleventh to Twelfth, be opened. The position of the petitioners was presented by H. B. Tucker, while several residents of the Twelfth street district were before the council explaining their position and conditions existing. Getting from Twelfth street to Upland without going by way of either Campus or Euclid works a hardship on property owners there and they desire a shorter route to the center of town. The council talked over the matter and ordered proceedings set in motion, the plan being to form an assessment district to accomplish the opening of the street. Road matters were discussed quite thoroughly before the council last night.

Now is the time to order Christmas magazines, with gift cards. Powell, Magazine Man. Phone 315-J.—Adv. 2812

Froehde, and Miss Maude Gertry motored to Los Angeles last Friday to attend a surprise party given in honor of Miss Hazel McDowell, at her home in that city.

We frame more pictures every day. The Sikes-Manker Co., 242 9th street.—Adv. 291t

H. B. Harlow and family moved from Ontario to Los Angeles this week, where they will make their future home, as Mr. Harlow is associated with the Exchange with headquarters at Los Angeles.

Red tags mean money saved. Look for the articles with the red tags. Haury's.—Adv. 291t

"Charley's Aunt" is the all-important personage of the week, and on Friday night the firemen of the city will entertain with "Charley's Aunt" the vehicle at the Upland Grammar school. The members of the company have been practicing faithfully and the presentation is to be greeted with a crowded house, as most of the seats are already taken.

Mr. and Mrs. Siegfried Schaffner and Miss Edna Schaffner of Los Angeles spent the Thanksgiving holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schaffner, on the ranch, West Nineteenth street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mehl and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cable enjoyed a motor trip to Los Angeles on Sunday.

Kremo Bread, the loaf of quality, has no superior.—Adv. 291t

Warren Myers, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Bordwell and Miss Mabel Myers are at home again after spending Thanksgiving day and over Sunday in a trip to San Diego and taking in the exposition there.

John McRae partook too freely of the cup that cheers last Sunday and as a result lost account of himself and endeavored to enter the home of Bruce Bower on Tenth and First avenue. The Bower family was absent and the doors being locked McRae could not get in. McRae was confined in the county jail until Monday morning when Judge Crane assessed him twenty-five dollars or twenty-five days, and McRae rustled the dollars and decided to lead the straight and narrow life.

Holiday novelties at Churchill's.—Adv. 291t

J. J. Palmer died at his home in Alta Loma, Saturday, November 27, 1915, at the age of 73 years, three months and twenty-three days. A short service was held Sunday afternoon at the Draper undertaking parlors, conducted by Rev. R. C. Stone. The body was taken east by E. J. Palmer for burial at Grand Falls, Minn. Mr. Palmer leaves three sisters and four sons to mourn his loss.

Mrs. Floyd Goodban, who has been in the San Antonio hospital, undergoing a very critical operation, is at her home, and is convalescing.

Upland is getting famous, all because Arthur Campbell, son of Ready-to-Wear Campbell, won a prize at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco. Mr. Campbell has two black-tail Japanese bantam chickens and he sent them to San Francisco to attend the poultry show, and they returned with two first prizes, which goes to show that this is the home of strictly high-class chickens.

WHEN YOUR CHILD

HAS CROUP

MacLaren's Mustard Cerate Will Loosen the Phlegm

In the middle of the night when you hear the dread cry, then you will need MacLaren's Mustard Cerate while you are sending for the doctor.

It will loosen the phlegm and should be rubbed on the Throat and Chest and covered with flannel. Better get a jar today and keep it handy because it has a multitude of uses. Better than mustard plasters because it acts gently yet surely and will not blister the tenderest skin of even a child.

Don't put it off till tomorrow, do it today.
Gives quick relief for Stiff Neck, Sore Throat, Pleurisy, Colds and Congestion, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Headache, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Sore Muscles, Lamé Back, Chills, Sprains and all kinds of Aches or Pains, and often wards off Pneumonia.

For sale by Mac the Medicine Man and all druggists—25c and 50c, or mailed, postpaid, by The MacLaren Drug Co., Los Angeles, Cal. For a generous sample by mail, postpaid, send 10c and this advertisement.

NOTICE OF PROBATE OF WILL

In the Superior Court in and for the County of San Bernardino, State of California

In the Matter of the Estate of Jacob William Durig, Deceased.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That R. C. Norton and D. E. Dobbins of Upland, California, have produced and filed with the Clerk of the Superior Court of San Bernardino County, a document purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Jacob William Durig, deceased, together with their petition for the probate thereof, and for the issuance to them, the said petitioners, of Letters Testamentary, and that Monday, the 20th day of December, 1915, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., at the Court room of said Superior Court, at the Court House in the City of San Bernardino, in said County and State, have been fixed by said Clerk, as the time and place for proving said Will, for hearing said petition for Letters Testamentary, when and where any person interested may appear and contest the same.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Superior Court, this 27th day of November, 1915.
L. R. PATTY, Clerk.
By R. W. MIFFLIN, Deputy Clerk.
WARREN & JOHNSON, Attorneys for Petitioners. 2913

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF SAN BERNARDINO.
Margaret Leeson, Plaintiff, vs. J. A. Sourwine, and Anita May Sourwine, his wife, Defendants.

Notice of Commissioner's Sale on Foreclosure of Mortgage

Under and by Virtue of a Writ of Execution reciting an order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale, issued out of the Superior Court of the County of San Bernardino, State of California, on the 20th day of November, 1915, in the above entitled action, wherein Margaret Leeson, the above named plaintiff, obtained a judgment and decree of foreclosure and sale against J. A. Sourwine, and Anita May Sourwine, his wife, defendants, on the 8th day of November, 1915, the said decree reciting that there is due the plaintiff Margaret Leeson from J. A. Sourwine, and Anita May Sourwine, his wife, defendants, the sum of One Thousand eight hundred twenty-six and 20/100ths ($1826.20) Dollars, with interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum from the date of said decree, and accruing costs.
I am commanded to sell all (or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said plaintiff's claim besides costs and expenses of sale) the lands, premises situated in said County, State of California, and being in the County of San Bernardino, State of California, and bounded as follows: Beginning at a point Twenty-five (25) feet west of the Southeast corner of Block Thirty-eight (38) Magnolia Tract, City of Upland, thence North Seventy-five (75) feet; thence East Twenty-five (25) feet to the West line of Third Avenue; thence North along said West line of Third Avenue for a distance of Forty-two (42) feet; thence West Fifty (50) feet; thence South One Hundred and seventeen (117) feet; thence East Twenty-five (25) feet along the North line of B Street to the place of beginning, as per plat recorded in Book 9 of Maps, page 15, records of said County.
Together with all and singular the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereto belonging or in any wise appertaining.

THEFORE PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that on Saturday, the 18th day of December, 1915, at 9:30 o'clock A. M. of that day, in front of the east door of the Court House of the County of San Bernardino, I will sell all of the above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said judgment and execution, with all costs, to the highest bidder for cash gold coin of the United States.

Dated November 22nd, 1915.
BEN HARRISON,
Commissioner appointed by said court.
C. C. HASKELL,
Attorney for plaintiff. 2814

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF SAN BERNARDINO.

In the Matter of the Estate of Robert Gray, Deceased.

Order to Show Cause on Petition to Mortgage

Harriet Longstreet Gray, Executrix of the will of Robert Gray, deceased, having filed herein her verified petition, praying for an order of this court authorizing, empowering and directing her, as such executrix, to mortgage her real and personal property of said deceased, as hereinafter described, for the purposes set forth in said petition; and it appearing that it will be of advantage to said estate that said mortgage be made:

It is ordered by the court, that all persons interested in the estate of Robert Gray, deceased, do appear before this court on Monday, the 3rd day of January, 1916, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, then and there to show cause, if any, why the real property and water stock of said estate, described below, or some part thereof, should not be mortgaged for the sum of Seventy-six Hundred Dollars ($7,600.00), as prayed for in the petition of Harriet Longstreet Gray, the executrix, heretofore filed herein, or for such lesser amount as to the court shall hereafter meet. Reference is hereby made to said petition for further particulars. Said real and personal property to be mortgaged is situated in the State of California, County of San Bernardino, and is particularly described as follows: Lots No. 7 and 10 in Section 9, and that portion of Lot No. 2 lying South of the center of the San Bernardino County Road of Sec. 9 of the Cucamonga Lands as per plat recorded in Book 4 of Maps, page 2, records of said County; together with 50 shares of the capital stock of the Cucamonga Water Company.

It is ordered that this order be published once a week for four weeks before the day of hearing in the Upland News, a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in said County of San Bernardino.
Dated November 26, 1915.
H. T. DEWHIRST,
Judge of the Superior Court. 2915

DOWN AT THE BOTTOM

"In Boston recently of six hundred applicants for the navy only thirty were accepted. This is an example of the proportion of our fit young men in the large cities." This is a statement attributed to Rear Admiral Ross.

It is time for us to stop and think a bit. We have been hearing that some nations are degenerate; perhaps we have been thinking so, too. Undoubtedly we have had a comfortable glow as we reflected: "Well, in this land, where there is still room and air for everyone, with our constant confusion of new and vigorous blood, we are the finest race the world has ever seen." But are we? If only five per cent of our young men are fit for the navy, then certainly we are in a bad position. We would not have fought the Civil War on that basis.

Of course we must make some allowances. Not anything like all of our able young men were included in this test, not many of those who would be ready to serve at need. Again, probably many of those rejected could be used in time of real need. Still one thing is perfectly plain. With all our clubs and gymnasiums and playgrounds and school athletics, we have not begun in the cities to overcome the harm to health and efficiency that is done when a great city comes into being.

Now we need these young men, all of them, not merely because defense calls first and last and always for men, but because we need efficient men for peace and nation building far more than for war. Manifestly our cities have still a mighty and a fearsome problem. There is no ground for the man to stand on who begins to argue that "we have done enough." With Boston's record of five per cent we are down at the bottom and we cannot move too fast.—Milwaukee Journal.

UNIVERSITIES AND FUTURE

In the course of his address at the opening of the winter session of St. Andrew's University, Principal Herkless brought out amongst others, two points in regard to the function of the university which are deserving of a closer attention. Scotland, Dr. Herkless said, as notably as any country in modern centuries, has recognized the worth of learning and the advantage of education, and the time was coming, he was convinced, when the universities would be brought into closer touch with the people, not as schools of arts and crafts, but as schools where, as he put it, knowledge that might be directed to the uses of life was not despised and rejected because it was not knowledge pursued for knowledge's sake alone. Dr. Herkless was, of course, here entering upon a view of the question which is the subject of knowledge because it is not knowledge for knowledge's sake, and the despising

NEW SUBMARINE

A naval officer has designed a submarine light enough to be carried on the deck of the battleship, to be lowered and run by one man capable of cruising 250 miles with an underwater speed of twenty-five knots. A feature of the invention is said to be a method of exhausting engine gases, so that the boat can be run by gasoline motor when submerged as well as above water. Duplication of the motive power being thus avoided, the one motor used may be larger and thus develop higher speed than these boats have hitherto attained. If the claims of the inventor should be justified a battleship provided with two such boats would become the terror of super-dreadnaughts. Two underwater destroyers with a range of 250 miles would beat any battery of big guns that could be placed on a battleship.—Philadelphia Record.

PICKING THE FLOWERS

Everywhere we see youth, unwilling to pay the full price for success, trying to pick the flowers out of an occupation or a profession, but omitting all that is hard, ugly and disagreeable.

This is as if soldiers were to go through a hostile country, leaving a stronghold, here and there, unconquered, to harass them perpetually by firing on their rear and picking off their men.

The only way to insure victory is to conquer as you go. You must not leave the enemy a foothold in any part of your kingdom. Dread of drudgery must be overcome. Grasp the nettle hard, if you would rob it of its sting. You must destroy the weeds as you go, or soon there will be no flowers; and without flowers you cannot have fruit.—Syracuse Journal.

SIGN OF PROSPERITY

To date this year, $228,072,000 of bonds have been bought on the New York market. Bond purchases for the same period last year amounted to only $124,667,000.

This practical doubling is one of the surest signs of prosperity. The activity of the stock market means almost nothing; the enormous majority of all stock transactions are mere speculation. But the man or woman who buys a bond is usually making a permanent investment.—Chicago Journal.

Some folks who are quick to take anything else are slow to take a hint.

GOOGLES GOING

"Who killed the goggle?"
"I," said the windshield. "I killed him with my superiority."
"Who saw him die?"
"I," said the optical man. "I saw him die, much to my sorrow."

Ten years ago a motorist wasn't one without goggles. Better that he lack an engine under the hood than goggles and a yellow duster, if he wished to travel in the gasoline set. Here was an opportunity, it seemed. The motorcar business was great and growing. The goggle was a motoring necessity. So various persons hastened into the business of manufacturing them. They have been hastening out of late.

"The goggle, in its old form, is almost extinct," Knox R. Lancaster of an optical company, said yesterday. "The only goggles being sold to motorists are colored glasses designed to protect the driver from the glare of approaching headlights. The manufacturers are doing the rest of their business in protection glasses for mechanical workers who are exposed to flying particles, sparks, and intensive lights."

COUNTY MINES EXHIBIT WINS

San Bernardino county's mining exhibit at the San Francisco Panama-Pacific exposition won eighteen medals of honor, according to the awards made last Saturday. The winning minerals were building stone, limestone, gypsum, flint, talc, gems and precious stones, graphite, copper, gold, silver, lead, chrome, iron, tungsten, sulphur, salines and marble.

The exhibit was pitted against that of fourteen other counties of the State. Riverside county also won honors, the principal minerals being marble, limestone, quartz, glass sand, rare minerals and gems, clay products, copper, manganese, tin, lead, chrome, and iron.

The Kern County Protective association won the grand prize for its remarkable peg model of the Sunset-Midway Oil field.

AN ADVANTAGE

"If you say this service is solid silver, I suppose I'll have to take your word for it," said the man who was selecting a wedding gift, "but it certainly doesn't look it."
"That's just the beauty of it," replied the salesman. "You can leave that silver service right out in plain sight on your sideboard and burglars will never touch it."

The Miller De-Reflector

Not a Dimmer; but gives more light than you are getting on the road, and positively stops all glare, by reflecting light to the upper half of reflector which in turn de-reflects out and down, increasing the reflected light 25 per cent from the top half of reflector.

The Miller De-Reflector is scientifically designed according to the laws of reflection of light, and is very simple to install. There is nothing to adjust, no buttons to push, no knobs to turn. Fits any parabolic reflector, is silver plated and guaranteed not to tarnish. Is placed inside the lamp where it is free from dust and rain.

Burglar-Proof Your Dwelling

Many hundreds of idlers will pass thru this section during the winter months.

We all know that the idler is not constructive but usually destructive.

You should be prepared so that these idle persons will not molest you.

THE SUREST WAY is to have a telephone installed in your dwelling at once. Then if you hear a prowler about, step to the telephone, quickly and quietly ask for the police.

The surest way is the safest way.

The greatest advantage of this kind of protection is that you have a telephone to use for social and business calls, for hundreds of different purposes.

SUPERVISORS PLAN RE-DISTRICTING OF COUNTY

Fontana, and North Rialto, that portion of San Bernardino west of I and north of Third and the new territory would include the Chino country.

The third district, Supervisor Glover, would lose no territory and take new districts including Mentone, Crafton and Yucipa, and the south side of the mountains with Fredal- ba as the dividing line.

The fourth district, Supervisor Riley, would give up the Chino district and Mountain View district, and take new districts including Etiwanda, Fontana, North Rialto, and take in addition to San Bernardino south of Third and west of I, the portion of the city south of Third and east of I.

The fifth district, Supervisor Horton, would lose about half of its present San Bernardino precincts, and in addition take only Arrowhead and Del Rosa, and the mountains from east to Fredal- ba.

Ladies' Aid Give Pretty Party

The annual party in honor of new residents was given at the church on Friday evening. Decoration were boughs of autumn foliage and chrysanthemums. Each guest was asked to represent the title of a book and many clever ideas were in evidence. The prize, a half dozen chrysanthemums, was won by Rollin Jones and Katherine Brownless and May Sassord. Mrs. Rader was chairman of the committee, with Misses Johnston and Kemp as assistants. Decorations were the work of Misses Sassord, Boatsman, Schleif and Ogan.

Mr. and Mrs. Utman were Los Angeles visitors on Wednesday.

Mrs. Johnston and Miss Athie spent Monday and Tuesday in Los Angeles.

The Ladies' Aid will hold a bazaar on Friday, December 4. Supper will be served and there will be booths for cake and aprons, fancy work, candy and ice cream.

Miss Margaret Scott visited in Upland at the McCormack home from Friday to Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Utman entertained Mr. and Mrs. Knight of Riverside for Thanksgiving dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Mueller entertained Mr. and Mrs. Stogmeier, Mr. and Mrs. Koch and Evelyn and Irvin for Thanksgiving dinner.

Miss Margaret Cooper was taken seriously ill on Sunday and is now at San Antonio hospital. Her physician, Dr. Webber, has prescribed a long rest, and Miss Cooper has tendered her resignation as teacher of the intermediate room. Miss Barton of Redlands is substituting this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Smith entertained Judge and Mrs. Donnelly, Mr. and Mrs. Neece, Mr. Chas. Donnelly, Dorothy and Donald Neece, at dinner on Thanksgiving day.

Miss Ruby Kempert spent her holidays with her grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. Suhr, and attended the Book Party on Friday.

Miss Speers was a guest at the Rader home on Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Lida Kemp spent her holiday with home folks.

Miss Widney visited home folks in Los Angeles for the holidays.

Mrs. McMurlin is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hickox. School attendance for last month averaged 104.

The Shakespeare class met at the Shepard served punch and cake and Shepard home today. The Misses the young ladies enjoyed a social half hour after their reading.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Anderson were guests at the R. R. Henderson home on Thanksgiving day, and on Friday Mr. and Mrs. Henderson and the children returned with them to San Bernardino for a three days' visit.

Mrs. Buckham and Stafford motored out from Los Angeles on Friday to spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Neece.

Rev. Wright was a guest at the Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hickox and Mr. and Mrs. McMurlin spent last Thursday in Alhambra at the Ross Hickox home.

Mr. and Mrs. Burger had a large dinner party of their former Kansas friends on Thanksgiving day. Mr. and Mrs. Fetrow, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thompson of Upland, Mr. and Mrs. Werner, Mrs. Eva Fisher and Joy were the guests who enjoyed their hospitality.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Frost gave a family dinner on Thanksgiving. Guests present were Mrs. Florence Fisher, Miss Nellie Fisher, Edward Fisher, Mrs. Clara Tilden, Marjorie Pauline and Edna Tilden.

The Morris annual family reunion was held as usual at the Morris home in Ontario. Guests present Etiwanda were Mr. and Mrs. John Frost and the children, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scott and the children, Miss Hilda Ogan, Miss Camille Schleif.

Mr. A. C. Smith took a party of young people on a trip to the canyon on Wednesday. Their objective was decorations for the bazaar, but there was plenty of fun as a side issue.

Mr. Little came up from the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Trayer.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pearson entertained at dinner on Thanksgiving Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Ingvaldsen, Mr. Andrew Ingvaldsen and Mr. Johnson.

A called meeting of the P. T. A. was held at the school house on Tuesday. Matters of routine business were transacted.

Elaborate plans for the celebration of Christmas are being made in the colony. On Christmas Eve the Community Christmas Tree will be the attraction. The cantata and other features of the program will be given by the public school. The finances are in charge of a committee from the Sunday school and the young people will do the decorating.

On Sunday evening a sacred concert will be given at the church, under the direction of Mrs. Donnelly, and several Christmas parties are being planned by the young folks.

The C. E. service on Sunday evening was a song service and Bible reading from the life of St. Paul.

* Cucamonga *

Dr. W. R. Farmer of Los Angeles spent a couple of days the first of the week visiting his sister, Mrs. Arthur Weber, in Cucamonga.
